Dear Delegates,

Proposal for amendments to the FAI annual questionnaire concerning aeronautical activities in member countries

Background

The FAI requires all member NACs to complete and submit an Annual Return, providing information on member numbers and a range of other information about activities in each country. This information is used for various purposes, including representation of air sports to external authorities and a general indication of the size of activity and membership in each country for the purposes of subscriptions and other matters.

Rationale

The experience in the UK is that it is difficult and, in some instances, impossible, to obtain the information required because of the detailed nature of it. Some of the information is collected by the subsidiary air sport organisations, who are then able to supply it at the FAI's request. However a significant proportion of the information is not collected and is unlikely, for reasons of practicality, to be available. The knowledge required to complete the form is held by individual pilots, who are under no obligation to inform the NAC or their immediate air sport governing body of the extent of their activities.

The difficulty of completing the forms in full tends to result in subsidiary organisations failing to complete any part of the form except after numerous reminders – which increases the administrative burden on the NAC.

Proposal

It is therefore proposed that the forms be reviewed and redrafted so that only information that is truly necessary and useful is requested. In order to decide what should be included, it is suggested that a mechanism be adopted of checking

- (1) whether the NACs have in general been able to supply the information and
- (2) whether any use has been made of the information during the year.

As a starting point for discussion purposes, it is suggested that the items listed in the Annex to this Proposal should be strongly considered for removal from future questionnaires.
